Coastal Getaway

Timber Cove Lodge in Jenner reopened earlier this year after an extensive renovation that creates a contemporary experience that still evokes the historic hotel's 1960s architecture and soul. Eight suites were added (for a total 46 guest rooms) and the banquet and event space can accommodate everything from a small, private wedding and reception to a full-scale resort corporate retreat. Executive chef Philip Kaufman now oversees the Coast Kitchen restaurant and has designed a menu of seasonal cuisine with locally sourced ingredients.

Curated activities include wine tastings, guided hikes, fireside music, wellness experiences and seasonal dining menus. Other onsite recreation includes archery, billiards, yoga, meditation, stand-up paddleboards, local beach access and more. Located high above the Pacific coastline on a stunning 25-acre property with proximity to many wineries as well as points of interest along the coast, it may be time for a revisit.
